The Fourth of July takes on new significance this year as it finds the Republic fighting for its very life in both the Atlantic and Pacific. There will be celebrations, of course, and some people will find it necessary to travel many miles on precious rubber to do justice to the occasion, but there will be no wild whoopee and bursting of fireworks—not on the Pacific coast, at least.

For the first time since our freedom was won by a badly battered army at Yorktown, we are living under the imminent threat of a tyranny far worse than that from which we escaped at such heavy cost so many years ago. And to avoid enslavement in the future we are going to pay a much greater price than many of us have so far dared contemplate.

We should, in the midst of our various celebrations of "The Glorious Fourth," take time out for a closer scrutiny of the situation as it is today, and resolve that no matter what the cost, the nation shall hold its independence in the face of whatever lies ahead. We must also realize that this happy state cannot be achieved by subscriptions of money alone; it's going to take work and more work—and it's going to take fighting men by the millions. So while we continue to buy war bonds and stamps we must also reconcile ourselves to greater inroads on our incomes, longer and harder hours of work, and to seeing members of our families embark on the great adventure of war—from which many will not return.

The picture is not rosy: a world diseased by war. Nor is the cure an easy one — but then, neither is the shock treatment for the mentally unbalanced, which it so closely resembles. Pleasing or not, however, it is a picture that must be seen more clearly than we have permitted ourselves to see it in the first seven months of the war. And no day of the year is so appropriate for this examination as the Fourth of July—the anniversary of our successful bid for freedom.

Someone in a Campbell neighborhood — a neighborhood I could describe quite accurately, has sunk so low as to set out poison for dogs. One dog has already been scored upon, an inoffensive little creature whose presence on earth today is due to a quick trip to the veterinary, and a quicker pumping out of his stomach. Causing the dog's anguish, and undoubtedly intended to kill him, were chicken entrails liberally sprinkled with strychnine. That was the doctor's finding. The pup is no chicken killer—no other parts of fowl were pumped out along with the entrails and strychnine; and even if he were a chicken killer, there are much kinder ways of handling the situation. Almost any dog owner will pay for damage of that kind, and then either confine his animal or break him of the habit No dog alive will ever kill another chicken once you've caught him at it, tied his victim around his neck and locked him in a shed for three or four days with nothing but a pan of water to console him.

If the poisoner should read this and feel that he or she is being harshly criticised, a canvass of the neighborhood should set the angry mind at rest. I'd suggest a questionnaire something like this: "What do you think of a dog poisoner? What would you do to a guy you caught poisoning a dog?"

Reverting back to the "Fourth" for a moment, it might be well to remember that the absence of fireworks will not guarantee complete safety—for that day will not be without its dangers to us here in Campbell. Despite the good work of our constable there remain at large a number of lunatics who have not yet wrecked their cars or had their licenses suspended. Add a bit of artificial stimulant to these crackpots and you've really got something to be afraid of. I would like to see a highway patrolman parked along Minna street Saturday—all day; gee, it would be wonderful!

Farewell Party For Rev. J. H. Bennett Sunday

A pleasant social gathering was held in the Congregational church parlors Sunday evening as a goodbye to Rev. J. H. Bennett who leaves this week-end for Loveland, Colo., where a refresher course and conference for ministers is held under the auspices of the Home Mission board. Rev. Bennett is one of four California ministers who were chosen to attend this year.

Following a light supper, a program was enjoyed with Dennis Bennett as master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Dorothy Rich sang two groups of songs, the first including "The Star," "Giannina Mia," "My Alice Blue Gown" and the second, "Mary" and "Just a Wearyin' For You." Mrs. Irma Sanders was her accompanist.

Dennis sang the "Green-eyed Dragon," with Mrs. Bennett at the piano.

Two readings were given by Mrs. Edna F. Smith, "An Eight-Hour Law for Vacations" and "Good Night, Good Night."

The pleasure of expressing the good wishes of his congregation and presenting him with a token of their good will was the part of Klaude Block.

GOOD NEIGHBORS FROM MEXICO

In many areas of agricultural California the farm labor problem has advanced from the serious stage to the desperate.

Crops are being wasted daily. There aren't enough people on the farms to harvest the apricot, peach and prune crops right now. As the summer advances crop losses will grow, unless something is done—quickly.

Worsening the situation is failure of volunteer farm workers from the urban areas to take up the labor slack. This is due in large measure to the inability of the soft, inexperienced city man or woman to do the work of trained, conditioned farm workers.

One suggestion that seems feasible and acceptable to many farmers is the temporary importation of sufficient Mexican farm labor to save California's crops. Normally, invitation to farm workers of another nation and another standard of living would be unwise, if not impractical. But this is a time of war—and the plan could provide for prompt return of the Mexican farm volunteers to their home localities as soon as the emergency is over, with a share of their earnings earmarked for their use in repatriation.

After all, right now, the good neighbors from south of the border should receive a hearty welcome and "Howdy"—if they know their stuff in field and orchard.

A SOUND PENSION PROGRAM

In ancient Sparta, men and women who grew too old and infirm to care for themselves were killed by law as useless to the community.

In modern California, elderly people who are in need are given support through the most generous old age pension in the world. Yet many citizens criticize our pension treatment of the aged on the ground that its administration is callous to the feelings of respectable pensioners — that pension checks are handed out as if they were pure charity. Since 1937, under the law, an old age pensioner cannot add to his modest pension income by earning additional small sums.

In a recent talk on California pension law, Attorney General Earl Warren had this to say: "If an old man, anxious to feel that he is playing some small part in the war effort, raises a Victory garden and sells $5 worth of vegetables to his neighbors, that amount is deducted from his pension check — and he is discouraged from performing a useful service for himself and his government. That is about the most prideless imposition that could be foisted on splendid old people who have helped build this state. I believe we should stop thinking of an old age pension as a dole. I believe that every elder citizen should have the right to retire on an annuity or pension. I don't believe he should have to be in need to secure it. I believe in an old age pension as a matter of right—as something we earn in our productive years by our contributions to the upbuilding of the community."

That principle should be embodied in our pension laws. Each man, in his productive years, should contribute to his own pension fund through his life work. In his old age, in dignity, in peace, he should enjoy the fruits of his service—and not eat the bitter bread of public charity. That principle would end the crackpot, impossible pension pipe dreams which have plagued California. That principle is honest. It is decent. It is fair. It is American.

O'CONNOR IN CONTEST FOR HIGH COURT

Judge Percy O'Connor, veteran San Jose police judge, prominent attorney and civic, fraternal and youth leader, is in the race for superior judge, opposing Judge John D. Foley, recently appointed by Governor Olson to fill the unexpired term in Department No. 2.

Judge O'Connor, 50 years of age, a native Californian and graduate of the University of Santa Clara, has been actively engaged in the practice of law for over 25 years. He has been police judge for nearly 20 years and prior to that was assistant district attorney of Santa Clara county.

He closed his law office in early 1917 to enlist in the U. S. army and saw service both as a private and officer in France and Germany. Since then he has been actively engaged in veteran affairs, being past commander of several veteran organizations.

With Mrs. O'Connor, the former Doris Reid, Judge O'Connor lives in Palm Haven with their twin sons—their oldest son, David, being a cadet in the U. S. air corps.

Air-Borne Infantry

Far cry from the "doughboy" who marched for days to capture his objective, are the troops whose mission it is to fly where their support is most needed, step from their transport plane and taking their place in the line, fully equipped, surprise and overpower the enemy. Accompanying them to the ground and ready for instant use are machine guns, the automatic rifles which they carry themselves, and even motorcycles and the multi-useful "peep." Airborne infantry also is equipped to disrupt communications and destroy command posts far behind the lines of battle.

OFFICIAL U. S. TREASURY WAR BOND QUOTAS FOR JULY

The above map of California shows the War Bond quotas, by counties, for the month of July, 1942. Total War Bond quota for the state is $61,687,000. With the National quota total placed at a billion dollars, the nation goes into high gear in its support of the War financing and to give our fighting forces adequate implements of war which will bring ultimate Victory. American Soldiers, Sailors, Marines and Airmen are on every front They are giving 100 percent for their country. What are we doing here on the home front? Are we lending at least ten percent of income to help them? It's very little. But to fight this war successfully our country needs a billion dollars in War Bonds every month from us—the People. Let's Go, America. U. S. Treasury Department

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Jeffers and children, Miss Elaine and Rex, and Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Klassen and children spent Sunday to Thursday of last week vacationing in Yosemite.

You might as well CONFESS!

Almost everyone likes a mystery — almost everyone enjoys the thrilling excitement of tracking down a criminal with an ace detective. But some are a little ashamed to admit reading mysteries. Well—you needn't be.

Maybe you didn't know that many college professors, bank presidents, great scientists, captains of industry, even the President of the United States all like their mysteries. In fact, millions of Americans are reading more mysteries today than ever before. Why? Mainly because these fast-paced, easy-reading stories are both relaxing and refreshing. It is for them—and for you—that we are publishing

Ellery Queen's Mystery Magazine

Edited by Ellery Queen, famous detective of the radio, the movies, and best seller books, it is devoted exclusively to the best in detective crime short-story literature. And we mean literature. The fact that a story owes its plot to crime and detection need not prevent its being well written. Short detective fiction that is well written is not too readily available. But we are finding them—in books, in magazines, and in the files of famous authors—and by arrangement with other publishers as well as with authors, we reprint in the approved "Reader's Digest" manner the best detective fiction to be procured.

Such masters as Dashiell Hammett, Agatha Christie, Stuart Palmer and Ellery Queen are to be found in it. But stories are selected on their merits, not on author's names. Tough and suave, casual and swift, comic and tragic, they are mingled with refreshing variety and stimulating change of pace. Rare gems, fit for the most critical, delightful to the most naive. You will find the new magazine well printed—sharp and clear, kind to the eyes. You will find the size same as "The Reader's Digest—convenient to hold, to handle, to slip into your pocket. You will find the cover as pleasing to look at as a book jacket. And you will find the contents the most satisfying quarter's worth of good entertainment you have found in many a day. On sale at all good newsstands—25c a copy.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

"The Sea Gull Cry" by Robert Nathan.

Have you read any one of Robert Nathan's works? "Portrait of Jennie" or perhaps "The Enchanted Voyage"?

One or all of his books, to become involved in mentally, speeds the reader far, far away from himself. The great power of the author's works is his fascinating whimsicality.

Louisa, the heroine of "The Sea Gull Cry" is a character that you will remember. You will know and love her so deeply when you have finished the story that you will feel that she is a real and true person. You will remember her for her sincere joy of living and her magnetic innocence.

Louisa and her small brother, Jeri, have come to this country to make their home. Because of the war they were compelled to leave — their parents both are gone and their home destroyed. Knowing Robert Nathan, you will be assured that he does not drag you through gruesome details concerning his characters' personal misfortunes. His handling of the situations, making them vivid, distinguishes his literary efforts, and gives them meritorious rank.

Louisa is a girl of 19 years, and her brother, Jeri, is only nine. The Welfare Board of New York starts the couple out with a limited amount of money with which to provide themselves with living necessities. With this amount they take to the highway to search for a home that will be inexpensive and they wish it to be near the sea. Fortunately they were able to rent, for the entire summer, an old empty scow on the beach at Cape Cod. From their first home in America, Louisa and Jeri take you by the hand, so to speak, and tell you the tale of The Sea Gull Cry.

There they found their first American friends, Alfred and Sara Baghot, from whom they rented their "home." Also Meg, Alfred and Sara Baghot's eight-year-old neice, who became a devoted friend and playmate of Jeri. But it was not until they themselves had been well established in the life of the Cape that Jeri discovered "Smith."

When Smith is discovered the love story unfolds. How he happened to come to the Cape — what he ultimately came to realize through his friendship with Louisa and what he was seeking to escape are specific and beautiful examples of the author's ability to create beauty and portray wisdom in his books.

HE LOST HIS PANTS

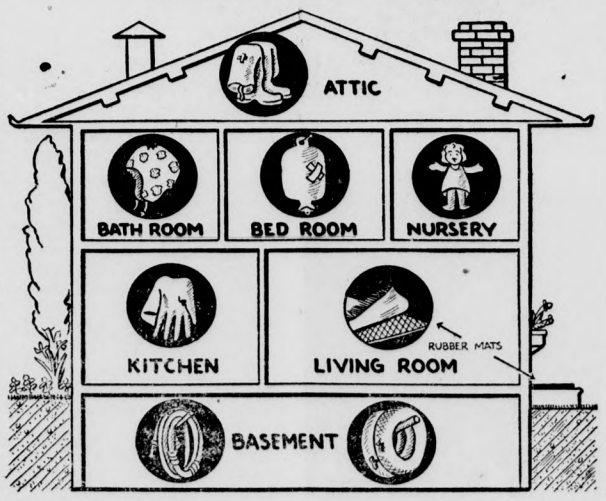
THE NEWEST GAME



Stretching across the country, the new game called "Keep Looking" or "Go Find the Rubber" is being played by everyone these days. The best place to play is right at home, where every member of the family can take part.

At a given signal, usually the snap of a rubber band, the players begin the first phase of the game called "Combing the Home." It's everybody's move, and each participant takes a section of the house for "combing." Players need not be exceptionally skillful, although a pair of sharp eyes is a great help.

The object of the game is to collect every piece of unused rubber in each room in the house. Latest ruling on the new sport is that items collected should not be confined to SCRAP rubber, but should include every rubber item that is not actually needed. This ruling may call for an occasional conference between the rubber owner and the rubber finder, to determine the usefulness of the object.

When "Combing the Home" has been completed, one member of the group is delegated to place the collected items behind the goal line—the nearest service station.

Everybody wins in this new game, which should be played intensively from now until June 30. The award is the feeling of satisfaction that comes from taking part in the current drive to swell the nation's rubber salvage pile.

Per Capita Cost Of County Gov't Is Revealed

The local government in Santa Clara county spent $12,402,128 in 1940-41, an average of $70.35 for each man, woman, and child in the county, study by California Taxpayers' association of government expenditures in California by counties revealed today.

General county expenditures during the year amounted to $5,158,444. The cities spent a total of $2,361,338, school district expenditures amounted to $4,494,490, county special districts excluding reclamation districts spent $277,849, and city special districts expenditures amounted to $110,007 the association found.

"Local government budgets for next year are being made up right now," the association declared. "Reductions in these budgets for 1942-43 have to be made during July. 'Government as usual' should be out for the duration. Unless action is taken immediately, and local spending programs are cut to the bare essentials, local governments will not be doing their all-out for the war. It's up to the people of the community to take action. A 'do nothing' attitude today will mean unnecessarily high local tax bills in November.

*Not distributed by States.

Henry Morgenthau Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, today made public the official War Bond Quotas by States for the month of July, which places the nation on a Billion-dollar-a-month basis to aid in meeting the War cost. The above table also gives May War Bond sales in the various states in comparison to the May Quotas. (June sales by states will be available for publication shortly.) The percentage of Quotas range from 71.3 percent above quota in Utah, to 22.6 percent below the quota in Montana, but puts the nation as a whole above the $600,000,000 total May quota. Vulnerable Alaska and Hawaii led all states in sale of War Bonds on quota basis.

"Everybody, every pay day ten percent" is the Treasury slogan which is expected to place one of the attractive new window stickers in every American home. "We're Buying at Least 10%" reads the sticker, printed in the national colors. The new window stickers and the new "10%" lapel button, which indicates that the wearer is investing at least ten percent of his income in War Bonds every pay day, are yardsticks of patriotism in the War Bond Drive.
